The Board of Directors of Forbes Field Credit Union (Forbes) has voted to merge and become part of Frontier Community Credit Union (Frontier).

We were chartered on April 6, 1954, as Fort Leavenworth Credit Union, originally serving civil service and military personnel at Fort Leavenworth. Although our membership has grown and we've changed our name, we continue to maintain our office on Fort Leavenworth and participate in military-friendly organizations and events. We are also a member of the Defense Credit Union Council and partner with Armed Forces Financial Network and CO-OP ATMs/Shared Branches to continue to provide broader account access for our military members.

We are confident in our ability to serve you as well as Forbes has in the past and are excited to show you some of the additional benefits we can offer:

- Five additional branches and 5,600+ CO-OP shared branches are available to you.
- Access to over 30,000 surcharge-free CO-OP ATMs
- Checking accounts with debit cards
- Cash services
- Online/Mobile banking with check deposit
- Mortgages
- Credit Cards
- Student Loans
- Youth Accounts

What will not change is your continued membership of a member-owned, not-for-profit financial cooperative with no outside stockholders.

We hope to make the transition into Frontier as seamless as possible and will keep you informed throughout the process. Please watch your mail and our website at www.frontierccu.org for more details. We are confident that you will benefit from this new partnership and look forward to serving you!

Sincerely,

Wendy Money
CEO/Manager
